Positive phase 3 data for prophylactic deucrictibant XR in HAE; Reiterate Neutral

Reiterate Rating: NEUTRAL | PO: 44.00 USD | Price: 39.42 USD

Clinical de-risking shifts focus to commercial opportunity

PHVS reported positive topline results from the ph 3 CHAPTER-3 study with deucrictibant XR achieving an 83% reduction in attack frequency versus pbo (p<0.0001) and an 87% reduction among patients with type 1/2 HAE. We believe the data largely resolve the key pre-readout question surrounding the XR formulation's ability to replicate the ph 2 IR profile with efficacy broadly comparable to leading injectable prophy therapies. We highlight the results also support feedback from our prior KOL work, which suggested efficacy of ~75-80%+ would be viewed as "injectable-like". While today's results meaningfully de-risk the program clinically, we believe the debate now shifts toward the commercial opportunity. Although deucri appears well positioned within the oral prophy market following today's results, it will enter a historically sticky HAE market as the second approved oral. As such, we expect uptake to be driven primarily by prophy-naïve patients and selected switchers rather than broad conversion of the existing prophy market. Mgmt guided to an NDA filing in 1H27. We currently model peak nominal prophy sales of $917mn, which is similar to our peak sales estimate for the incumbent oral, BCRX's Orladeyo. We reiterate our Neutral rating with revised $44 PO (see inside) as we think the current valuation already accounts for meaningful commercial uptake.

Secondary endpoints supported the primary analysis

CHAPTER-3 enrolled 85 patients, including 80 patients with type 1/2 HAE and five patients with HAE with normal C1 inhibitor. Beyond the primary endpoint, all secondary efficacy endpoints were met with statistical significance. 98% of deucrictibant-treated patients achieved at least a 50% reduction in attack frequency, while 96% and 66% achieved at least 70% and 90% reductions, respectively. Additionally, ~46% of patients remained attack-free throughout the 24-week treatment period.

Safety profile remained generally manageable

Deucri XR was generally well tolerated, with most TEAEs reported as mild or moderate in severity. A single SAE was reported in a patient with a history of repeated laryngeal intubations who was hospitalized for laryngeal dyskinesia (deemed unrelated to treatment). No treatment-related SAEs were reported and GI TEAEs were balanced between arms. Overall, we view the safety profile as supportive of chronic prophy use.

Additional pipeline catalysts remain ahead

PHVS remains on track for a 4/23/27 PDUFA date for deuci IR in on-demand HAE and expects ph 3 CREATE Part 1 data (AAE-C1INH) in 1Q27. We view the dual prophy (XR) and on-demand (IR) strategy as a differentiated aspect of the broader deucri franchise.

Company Sector

Biotechnology

Company Description

Pharvaris (PHVS) is a clinical-stage biotechnology company developing oral bradykinin B2 receptor antagonists. Its lead programs are in late-stage development as acute on-demand treatment and prophylaxis option in hereditary angioedema (HAE). The company is also evaluating potential expansion to other opportunities, such as allergy and immunology, cardiovascular, neurology, and others.

Investment Rationale

We rate Pharvaris Neutral. We believe its bradykinin B2 receptor antagonist approach is a well-validated mechanism in hereditary angioedema (HAE), based on prior precedence set by approved Firazyr in the acute setting. We look for additional validation for its pipeline assets in HAE near term and its differentiation from others in the competitive landscape.

Model changes

In our DCF, we roll the quarter and increase our prophy program LoS to 70% (prev. 50%) in-line with how we generally model positive phase 3 studies. We also push out the launch to 2028 (prev. late-27) in-line with the planned 1H27 filing timeline. We also increase our operating expenses in-line with our new launch timelines and ongoing CHAPTER-4 open label extension study. The prophy program now contributes $21/sh (prev. $15/sh) to our new $44 PO (prev. $38). We assign $35/sh to HAE programs in both prophylaxis and acute on-demand settings (previous $29/sh).

Price objective basis & risk

Pharvaris (PHVS)

Our $44 PO is based on our DCF-based valuation with $35/sh assigned to (hereditary angioedema) HAE programs in both prophylaxis and acute on-demand settings. The remainder of our valuation comes from pipeline and corporate expenses, and cash which offset. Our assumptions are based on 10% WACC for the acute on-demand program and prophylaxis program, 6% COGS, 15-20% GTN, and 10%-20% peak penetrations in target indications.

Upside risks to our price objective are: 1) positive data and additional validation in HAE, 2) superior efficacy or safety profile compared to standard of care or other competitors in the pipeline, 3) pipeline expansion to other indications outside of HAE.

Downside risks are: 1) failure to show efficacy in HAE, 2) unexpected side effect, 3) inferior efficacy or safety profile compared to standard of care or other competitors, and 4) competitors entry in HAE.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of both a stock's absolute total return potential as well as its attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). Our investment ratings are: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. An investment rating of 6 (No Rating) indicates that a stock is no longer trading on the basis of fundamentals. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).
